On City, County and State Levels

State Rd. 80 Construction Hits More Snags

Canal Hazards Safety Committee Chairman Franklin Jones said Wednesday the project of four-laning SR80 could be set back four to five months because of several snags.

The roadblocks to the project were being thrown up in several areas, Jones reported to the committee, and he said one of the delays could cost more than a year and several million dollars to the section between Hooker Highway and 20 Mile Bend.

The most pressing delays are being caused by the county running out of funds to purchase right of way and by the need to re-locate utility lines owned by the city of Belle Glade from South Bay to Airport Road.

The utility question was supposedly resolved during a June 20 city commission work shop when the city's engineers, Briley-Wild and Associates, were asked to meet with the DOT as soon as possible to coordinate the removal of the lines.

Briley-Wild engineer A.J. Birchall, according to Jones, finally met with DOT officials in Fort Lauderdale Friday and offered a proposal for the city and the DOT to work together, letting the road contractor handle the utility line problem.

Birchall said he would have plans for the removal of the lines in about 90 days, Jones said, but that would probably mean a delay of about four to five months.

Belle Glade Mayor Aubrey Farmer said later he was unaware of what was discussed at the meeting but said the plan proposed by Jones was not what the city commission had in mind.

"That can't be right," Farmer said. "The city's been trying to take care of the lines and we'll probably do it with city forces."

Farmer said the commissioners, among whom he was a member, had recommended the removal of the utilities could be accomplished for $125,000, "and we figured that was padding it," as compared to the $425,000 estimate made by Birchall.

He pointed out, however, Birchall told the commission he was figuring on using all new lines, valves and pumps and didn't take into consideration the money the city would receive for salvaging some of the line.

"I'll guarantee you one thing, though," Farmer told Jones Wednesday. "The City of Belle Glade isn't going to hold up the four-laning of State Road 80."

Another roadblock Jones reported was the fact Palm Beach County has run out of funds to purchase right of way and he said he thinks that problem may be taken care of.

He said he has talked to County Commissioner E.W. "Bud" Weaver about the funds and Weaver told him the county may be able to borrow funds from another part of the county budget and pay those funds back when the bond issues is floated.

The last major delay Jones reported was that the DOT is considering changing its plans to build the relocated section of SR80 from Hooker Highway to USR 1/2 Mile Bend.

Currently, the right for 100 feet of right of way on either side of the center section line which would also be the center line of the highway.

The change would involve moving the right of way entirely to one side of the center section line to compensate for canals along the route, and to allow for a 200-400 foot right of way instead of the currently planned 200 feet.

Jones said he is planning now to set up a meeting between members of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee and DOT officials to meet in September to argue against the change of route.

"Changing the route," he said, "would mean a year's delay to give the DOT a chance to re-design the corridor. It would throw out all the agreements we've been able to come up with to have the right of way donated by a man, especially if it's possible."

"We're going to point out three things," he said. "First, it's the fact sticking the old plan won't save county taxpayers between $2 million and $2.5 million in right of way costs."

He pointed out that since most of the property lines follow the center section line, moving the right of way to one side would mean shifting the entire route to one landowner instead of two, and that one would be giving up 300 to 400 feet of land instead of 100.

"Not to mention that," Jones said, "going ahead with the present idea of dredging borrow from existing canals would improve the drainage in the area, and that means another savings to the taxpayers."

City Takes Over Airport

From DOT for $1 a Year

After hanging fire for almost a month, the city commission ratified Monday night the takeover of the Belle Glade Airport.

Chamber Nominates White

Bob White, manager of Belle Glade's Southern Bell office, was nominated Tuesday night by the next year's President of the Board of the Chamber of Commerce.

White was nominated by the board's nominating committee after Roy Biles of Royals as first vice president.

Louie Kirchen, owner of Fr'Eddy's as second vice president, and Curtis Thompson as treasurer.

The board also nominated 11 possible candidates to fill four board positions to be vacated later this year. Those nominated were Dale Stapp, Harry McRae, Wayne Mikel, Greg Jackson, Charles George Gariner, Tom Runfert, Earl Meredith, Ed Davis, Bob Peeler and Roy Biles.

An elected ballot will be sent to all Chamber members during the month of August. Those who failed to vote for four of the 11 to take over as new directors.

The Chamber voted to increase the frequency of its meetings. Until now it had always met the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

In the future it will meet once a month on the second Tuesday. The board will have the right to change this scheduled day, however, if it sees fit.

If any immediate business comes up between meetings the executive committee will have the power to act, however all actions will come before the board at its next regular meeting for review and final approval.

Chairman President Ben Clarke reported he had been advised to have the Chamber's entire charter revamped and revised. He said the board's attorney, John Babin, had felt it necessary to take this action.

"Our charter was filed back in 1958," said Clarke. "And it was filed by the county. Since then, in 1967 or '68 I believe, all charters have been revised with the state."

"In an effort to give potential voters a last chance to register, a Belle Glade registration and Pah. Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester's office will be registering voters right up until 5 p.m. Saturday deadline."

"I feel it would be best for us to completely review the chapter and then file it with the state rather than having it filed by the county."

White and Mrs. Dolly Hand were appointed to the committee to revamp the charter.

Voter Registration Closes

With three days left for potential voters to register to vote at their local Belle Glade election and the general election first on Sept. 10, registration drives were continuing into high gear.

Registration drives are already closed for the South Bay City election on Sept. 3 and, following a pause, are to resume again on Sept. 10.

Those who are 18 years of age or older are qualified to take the canary trip to the polling place at the hall annex.

In an effort to give potential voters a last chance to register, a Belle Glade registration and Pah. Beach

County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester's office will be registering voters right up until 5 p.m. Saturday deadline.

Harrison said that although he was not running for the upcoming elections and will not be running for the commission seat vacated by his predecessor, John Grady, he has been a strong proponent of voter registration and has no time yet to get him campaign off the ground.

"We've registered about 900 people," Harrison said Wednesday, "but I couldn't say how many of those are Belle Glade voters. We've been registering anyone in the county who wants to register."

He was referring to the fact that for the first time, in the upcoming elections, the voter registration rolls are being handled by Miss Harrison's office and registration is not being done at all at the hall annex.

The schedule for Harrison's group of workers, expected to register voters for today and Friday is to man tables at several places from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The locations are Avenue B place and Fifth Street, 616 Southwest Avenue B place, 616 Southwest Avenue B and Avenue H and Houston, Wash House at Avenue A and Sixth Street.

Harrison said the workers will also be manning tables

Costly Carelessness

We don't usually go overboard observing some particular day, week or month but today marks the beginning of a week of special significance to the Glades area.

While National Pickle Week would probably leave most people not employed by Heinz 57 cold, National Farm Safety Week would arouse at least a flicker of interest in the agriculturally oriented Glades.

President Nixon has proclaimed July 26-31 as a week to stress safety on the farm and it's notable farm accident claimed the lives of approximately 6,000 farm and ranch residents across the United States last year.

More than one of these lives were lost during accidents right here in the Glades, including a Jamaican sugar cane cutter killed in one of two accidents involved in hauling the workers to the field. Farm safety isn't something people in the Glades can afford to ignore for even a year and it's nice but doesn't affect me.

It's something we live every day of the year...or should.

Across the nation, work-related accidents, including farm accidents, put a dent in the farmer's pocketbook to the tune of $2.75 billion (that's right...billion, not million).

That's money we people in the Glades can ill afford to squander our share of.

Think about it, and good safety practices make sense.

A Whole New Ballgame

A man we know keeps a copy of last week's Herald around and readily available to show to everyone who walks through his front door: "It's the Glades," he greets each visitor, "there is your future in Belle Glade."

Our man is talking about the new 40-acre site for Palm Beach Junior College on State Rd. 715. He couldn't be more accurate.

It's a whole new ball game in Belle Glade. The impact will be felt for a long time to come.

Businessmen locally can't really comprehend the effect this college will have. In a nationally known economy Belle Glade is going to stand tall above all the others. And it will basically be because of the junior college.

It is a mushrooming effect, really. The college will bring in many more people. These people will require more services. Service businesses will spring up which will turn hire more people and so on down the road.

We can't be too enthusiastic about the new junior college.

As we said, it's a whole new ballgame.

Now, if we could only get the building moratorium lifted.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Please publish this for all the people who are getting into more than they could possibly handle.

FROM SOMEONE WHO HAS BEEN THERE AND RETURNED TO THE BEAUTIFUL SIDE OF THE WORLD.

TAKE ME INTO YOUR ARMS

So little man, you've grown tired of grass LSD, coke, and hash.

And someone pretending to be your friend Said "I'll introduce you to Miss Heroin". Well honey, before you start fooling with me tell me how you feel about it will be.

For I will seduce you and make you my slave I've seen men stronger than you in their grave You think you can never become a disgrace.

So you start inhaling me one afternoon....

And once I enter you into your veins, Once and once I enter you into your veins, The craving will nearly drive you insane.

You'll need lots of money, as you have been told, For I am much more expensive than gold.

You'll switch from me and just for a buck, You'll turn into something wild and corrupt.

You'll mug and steal for me, and corrupt, And feel content when I melt in your arms,

The day you realize the monster you've grown, You'll solemnly promise to leave me alone.

I'll hold you and get the mystery knock, Then honest, fast, try getting off my back.

The vomit, the cramps you get tied in a knot, The jangling nerves screaming just for one shot.

The hot chill, the cold sweat, the withdrawal pains, Can only be stopped by my white little grains.

Then you'll be back again, and just to look, For deep down inside, you know you've failed.

You'll welcome me back into your pusher and you, You'll welcome me back into your arms once again.

And when you return, just as I foretold,

I'll tell you that you will give my body and soul.

You'll give up your morals, your conscience, your heart,

And you'll be with me "UNTIL DEATH DO US PART".

Sincerely,

Dr. Alexander V. Berks

Farm Safety Week Proclaimed

CHICAGO—President Richard M. Nixon has proclaimed that July 14, 1974 shall be dedicated to the observance of National Farm Safety Week. This marks the 31st consecutive year in which this annual national safety activity has been sponsored by the National Safety Council (NSC) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has been observed.

Farm Safety Week was to occur in the use of farm equipment during World War II—especially tractors, wagons, and combines. But not all agriculture involves that.

Many additional falls occur right around the house, down stairs, on slippery surfaces, and over hidden obstacles.

Currently, NSC and USDA are emphasizing prevention of farm falls in this year's observance to help reduce farm deaths and injuries. And agricultural communicators, farm and rural youth organizations, rural safety leaders, agribusiness, extension, and other community leaders are being asked to cooperate in year's effort to reduce farm falls.

The National Safety Council, based in Chicago, is a non-governmental, nonprofit, public service organization dedicated to safety promotion and the development and implementation of accident prevention programs reaching every segment of American life.

Accidents claimed the lives of about 6,000 farm and ranch residents last year. Approximately half of these were victims of motor vehicle mishaps. Another 2,000 falls were accounted for in an accidental agricultural work deaths. About 500,000 farm residents suffered disabling injuries last year.

The causes of these accidents, including farm fires, totaled $2.75 billion in 1973 losses that farm and ranch people can ill-afford.

The death rate of all work-related injuries reported in a recent NSC state farm accident survey were attributed to falls. Work falls often

Invisible Menace - Doors

The newest menace on the home accident scene is the sliding glass door—the kind that stretches from floor to ceiling and usually opens to the backyard or patio.

Last year, 150,000 people were injured when they walked into doors that had been opened or closed after reports of lost eyes, cut tendons, dislocated faces and severed arteries—all from flying glass.

One of the problems here is that a great majority of the glass in these doors is flimsy—often, not much stronger than ordinary window panes. But there are some solutions recommended by the National Safety Council:

Decorate your glass door with a decal or sandblasted-type design to alert people the door is closed. A better idea is to install a safety door made of shatterproof safety glass which doesn't cost too much more than ordinary glass. But whatever the cost difference, it's worth it.

Students Receive $2,000 Award

Ralph C. Carter, Jr., of Winn-Dixie/Farm Bureau Washington County, has been selected as the 1974 winner of the Lee Selle's of Okemos Scholarship competition. As first place winners, Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Carter of Chipley, and Miss Sellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sellers of Okemos, will each receive a $2,000 scholarship.

Sellers, who plans to follow a career as a home economics extension agent, has been an active member of 4-H for eight years. She has already been accepted by Auburn University in Auburn, Alabama, and, since sewing is her favorite phase of home economics, hopes to eventually earn a master's degree in clothing.

Ralph C. Carter, Jr., of the East Florida Chamber of Commerce, a former Bell Glade Pupil, was an outstanding student at Chipley High School. In addition to being present in both the school's senior classes and serving as a student representative to the Washington County School Board Policy Revision Committee, he was named one of the "74 Who Are America's High School Students Outstanding Teenagers of Outstanding American High School Students."

Residents Get First Crack

Glades area residents will apparently get first crack at challenging assessments against their property this week as the Palm Beach County Board of Tax Adjustment meets.

Hal Porter, who heads up County Assessor Dave Reid's office in the Glades, said the board began hearing complaints concerning homestead exemption Monday and other protests Wednesday, today and Friday.

Meanwhile, earlier this week, Porter said his office was fielding the complaints by residents of the Glades who felt their homes and other personal property had been incorrectly assessed.

"We're checking each individual claim to see if we can find any errors in the assessments," Porter said. "We can't say that many complaints but as time goes by, we find more parcels as we do our rounds, there are bound to be a few more."

He said that throughout the county, there were fewer

1,000 protests. He said his office is unable to satisfy goes before the board.

The board is made up of three Palm Beach County Commissioners and two school board members.

Porter said all claimants are given a notice in the mail before they are to appear before the board.

Summertime and the livin' is easy but not all the kids in the Glades have been whiling away these hot and sultry days at the swimming pool or at the beach. These kids had a good time and got something out of it too in summer enrichment classes at the West Arts

South Bay

Sues Engineers

The South Bay City Commission decided Tuesday to file a suit against Robert Owen and Associates, Inc., a city's consulting engineers in an effort to solve the city's sewer problems.

The decision was reached during a meeting in which the city's new sewer system was discussed in three different contexts.

An earlier suggestion by Commissioner John Denton to file a suit against LaGrow Irrigation Co., the prime contractor who was responsible for installing the sewer system last year, was discarded.

"If we sue the engineers," Commissioner Denton said, "they'll talk about us." LaGrow. We paid them $100,000 and all they did was sit on their butts."

The sewer first came up when Belle Glade attorney John Baker asked the commission to pay his client, Alton Goodbread, $100,000 for damages LaGrow had installed a manhole and sewer main on Goodbread's property.

Goodbread had appeared before the commission several times in an attempt to get some kind of settlement. The line was installed in 1972 and was thought to have been an easement but Baker showed plans that indicated it was an easement to the land.

Goodbread originally was asking the city to pay him $6000 to pay for the damage and was necessitated by damage done to his property when LaGrow installed the line.

"Mayo and Goodbread agreed LaGrow originally offered to repair the damages by putting away rocks left on Goodbread's property, including in fresh mud and sodding over the damaged yard."

They said LaGrow never followed through with the promise.

The commission decided they would get together with City Attorney Alton Everett, who was absent from the meeting, to try to get LaGrow to pay for damages requested by Goodbread.

Goodbread agreed to wait until Everett could make a report.

Baker told the commission he had dealings with

4 Are Ag Frosh

A bit of the Glades has been transplanted to Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, Ga., in the form of four freshmen students.

Among the freshmen who are enrolled in the fall quarter at the Georgia college, and are from the first 100 students to college life in three orientation sessions are Craig Pate of Belle Glade, Mike Brown of Pahokee, Lamar Hooker of Canal Point and Wayne Davidson of Clewiston.

The orientation session is set up to operate for three consecutive days and is designed to orient students to all areas of college life at ABAC and to actually give them a head start when the fall semester begins.

More than 250 students have already attended two sessions held on the campus with another three sessions scheduled to start Monday.

"We actually refer to orientation as a guidance and counseling clinic," commented Dr. Rosemary Johnson, the counselor in charge.

Balmer Given Pay

The South Bay Civil Service Board voted unanimously yesterday night to recommend the city commission award former water and sewer plant operator Ed Balmer two weeks severance pay.

The board supported the commission's firing of Balmer, who was involved in a commission session in which Balmer called City Commissioner Neal Mayo a liar.

In the commission session, which Balmer argued with Mayo, Mayor Veritta Cox, Commissioner John Denton, City Clerk

Virginia Walker and former City Commissioner Howell Goodbread, Monday's Civil Service Board meeting was quiet but long, lasting over four hours to cover the one subject.

Balmer had appeared before the commission some time back to ask for a raise but Commissioner Denton said he should clean up the water plant before asking for the raise.

During the meeting when Balmer was terminated, the city agreed to hire to Mayo, Mayor Veritta Cox, Commissioner John Denton, City Clerk

Opportunity Grant

And, according to Freddie Harrell, a college counselor at the PRCCades Center, the amount allotted at the junior college for eligible students has now almost doubled from $452 to $850.

Eligible students who started (or will start) college after April 1, 1973 may receive grants from the federal government for education and training after high school.

If a family's adjusted gross income is less than IRS Form 1040, or line 12 of IRS Form 1040A, falls roughly among 155 Florida State University musicians to perform at the 1974 Damascus International Trade Fair Aug. 12-13.

The Syria Marching Chiefs, Symphonie Ensemble and Jazz Lab Ensemble, according to U.S. State Department announcement, were selected after three days of a request for a U.S. cultural presentation at the fair.

The request was made during President Nixon's June visit to Syria according to the Damascus International Trade Fair Aug. 12-13.

The bands will perform during the final 10 days of the fair. The Marching Chiefs will perform in the 25,000-seat Damascus football stadium while the Symphonie Ensemble and the Jazz Lab Ensemble will play in such locales as the fair theatre, the Damascus International Trade Fair, and the historic Al-Mashrabiya Palace in the old quarter of Damascus.

The bands will be transported to and from Syria by the U.S. Air Force, while the Syrian government will provide transportation and lodging in Damascus.

The Women's Softball League finally broke through—or so I thought.

A couple of weeks ago Susan Salvatore, President of the Women's Softball League, broke a barrier when she stepped in to umpire two softball games—the first being of course there weren't enough men to do it.

She did a darn good job also, and it opened the path a little for me to umpire first base at another softball game—and the being of course there weren't enough men to do it.

Although the League did try it for one year (when it was in its early years) this was the first time in at least four or five years that a female had umpired in a woman's softball game in this area.

Though this would help a lot if we could get girls to umpire and stop putting a strain on the women trying to find men to umpire, I know from experience how difficult it is to persuade a man to come out and umpire a game for the women whom he would much rather be doing something else. This year it has been even more difficult.

At the league meeting we held last Wednesday night I brought up the idea of having women umpires in the league. Much to my surprise, it was vetoed rather vehemently.

It was a good idea, though, to really understand all the little tricks of women or maybe I'm just too trusting. But some of the others thought that it wasn't good of an idea because they were afraid some women umpires might be just a little too partial to one team to be fair.

Some of the old-timers (League-wise) said it had been tried before but it didn't work out because of some umpires showing favoritism for a team and it had broken up a lot of friendships.

Well, my only answer to that is a friendlier one: "What's happening if an umpire makes a call and her friend gets mad because it isn't in her favor.

Now if the call was absurd or ridiculous it could be the point—I wouldn't want a friend like that no matter whose side she is on.

But if the Men's Softball League could get other men players to umpire for them why can't the women? Sure, the men have had their squabbles but they get straightforward.

I guess it just goes to show women can't be trusted as much as men—or they get too emotional to be fair.

Dreher Park Zoo is having problems again—or should I say still having problems.

Financially, animals are not getting enough financial backing to keep the zoo going such as building better cages with more space for the animals and even paying employees.

Last Friday I took some kids over there and heard them down the cages were. I was just about to ask one of the employees why when I saw one of the guys talking to another who was asking the same question.

Now I don't like to eavesdrop but I overheard him say about the money they desperately needed and how they now have to charge admission to help scrape up some. He remarked that if they didn't get a lot of help soon they may just have to close down which would really be a shame because the children really enjoy it. I know from firsthand experience.

There is to be a benefit softball game in order to help raise money for the zoo but it won't help nearly enough, mostly because of lack of organization.

It would be a shame for the zoo to go out of business because of lack of funds and for people to have to pay much more to go to Lincoln County Safari or travel even further just to see some wild animals when they have access in their own backyard.

Well, my only answer to that is a friendlier one: "What's happening if an umpire makes a call and her friend gets mad because it isn't in her favor.

SPORTS

Testers Rout Hunters

In the first of what could be a series of tournaments, the Lake Okeechobee Tackle Testers routed the Hawg Hunters of the Palm Beach area by landing more bass per boat.

Walter Parker of the Tackle Testers said the local fishing club boat had 10.5 pounds, 7 ounces, 27 ounces of the large-mouth lunkers to win the tournament.

The Hawg Hunters netted an average of 3 pounds, 11 ounces during a day when they said the fishing was light for members of both teams.

Parker said there were eight boats and 16 fishermen on the Tackle Testers team, with six boats and 12 fishermen on the Hawg Hunters.

He said the two clubs are planning a series of tournaments and have gone together to hold a one-foot trophy which will be awarded to the winners of three of the first five tournaments.

At the same time the larger tournament was going on, Parker said the Tackle Testers was holding a sub-tournament involving only members of the local club.

In the sub-tournament, the first place team effort was made by Parker, Mathis and Darrell Mathis, who brought in a total of 17 pounds, 8 ounces.

They were the only ones to catch the last fish of the day, boating a 7.5 pound junker. Parker said Mathis and Parker were fishing with purple worms in the Pahokee area.

"They were the only ones who really caught much of anything," Parker said, "and they said the fish were 10 ounces between them."

The second place team effort was turned in by Bruce Konradz and Bobby Allred, who boated 10 pounds, 10 ounces between them.

The Tackle Testers threw a first try at the two clubs at the Pahokee State Park following the tournaments.

Osceola Protests Calls--Wins Anyway

The Women's Softball League came into some difficulty Tuesday night July 16 when officials on the field caused Osceola, one of the two softball teams to protest the game which they were playing against Royal's.

Although matters got hectic for a few minutes, the game resumed and the Osceola girls rallied to win over Royal's 15-11.

Jeannie Redd was the first to go to base for Royal's in the first inning, hitting four runs before the third out.

I guess it just goes to show women can't be trusted as much as men—or they get too emotional to be fair.

The steps in the emergency treatment of sprained ankle (shown above) and other useful outdoor tips are detailed in a series of pamphlets published by Mountain Dew.

The game dropped Royal's to fourth place in the league and left Osceola in third.

Vidas Ilustres

Aunque en esta semana Cuba celebra una fecha de luto, hoy en este espacio de nuestra página en la cual hemos traído por varias semanas la vida de hombres y mujeres que han luchado por alcanzar esta libertad, traemos a un luchador de esta causa, que sin duda, ha dado su vida por dar a nuestra historia el valor que esta tiene, por haberla escrito con sangre.

El biógrafo tomado del libro "Simeón Saco, el gran maestro" de Rolando Espinoza, escrito por "El Dr. Rolando Espinoza" será la última por un tiempo que publicaremos en este espacio.

Don José de la Luz y Caballero

Don José de la Luz y Caballero, el gran maestro filósofo, forma con Félix Varela y José Antonio Saco, el gran maestro que enseñó a pensar a los cubanos que les indicó el camino de la libertad, incitándolos a luchar por su independencia. Varela, Saco y Luz Caballero fueron grandes forjadores de la conciencia nacional cubana.

Don José de la Luz y Caballero, a quien sus discípulos les llamaban el maestro "Don Pepe", nació con el cuál nombre en el pueblo de La Habana, el día 11 de julio de 1800. Sus padres pertenecían a dos distinguidas familias de La Habana: de una magnífica posición económica, la familia de su madre, una amplia casería colonia junto al río Almendares, en lo que es hoy la calle de Luz, nombre que se le puso en honor de su preciado cubano.

Desde muy pequeño comenzó a recibir una exquisita educación de parte de su madre Doña Manuela Teresa Caballero, profunda mente convencida que el menor a perdonar siempre, es indolente con los que hacen algo malo, y sobre todo a amar a la patria, a su país natal y a la verdad. También fue un factor en su educación, su tío, el presbítero José Agustín Caballero, sacerdote y maestro, el primer gran maestro que tuvo Cuba.

Al nacido, de constitución enfermiza, se le dio con facilidad todo cuanto se le enseñaba. Mostraba anhíos de aprender. No había para él materia que no lo interesara. Todo lo dominaba con extraordinaria facilidad. Y al tiempo que crecía físicamente, su cultura y crecía intelectualmente.

Cuando tenía trece y tres años de edad, se casó con Doña Mariana Romay, hija del Dr. Tomás Romay, de cuyo matrimonio nació su única hija, a la que nombraron María Luisa.
